Everyone Has A Story

We are inviting you to join The Big Story challenge that will help us all to cope with the self-isolation that goes with the fight against the Coronavirus. More than that, this is your chance to be creative and positive while the rest of the world seems to be shutting down. And by writing The Big Story you can help a great cause. We are inviting friends and family to encourage you with a little sponsorship that through The Big Story can be doubled in value and support registered charity ChoraChori in its vital work with the most vulnerable children in Nepal.

How we will raise the money

We are aiming to raise a grand total of £100,000 through The Big Story that feeds into our summer appeal. This sounds like a lot (it is!) but we believe that it is achievable and we need to continue to aim really high. Here's how it works:

From late March until the middle of May we will be approaching charitable foundations and major donors inviting them to make pledges totalling £50,000. The idea is that this can become a special fund that will match any public donations (including Big Story sponsorship) that are made online during the appeal fortnight that runs from 1st June to 14th June. So, £25 in sponsorship automatically doubles up to £50!
